

Unbegaun B.O. 1969. Les anciens Russes vus par eux-memes. Selected papers on Russian and Slavonic philology. Oxford. Clarendon Press. 272-286.

The article studies the case of the substitution of the word oko 'eye' by glaz, in XVI century Russian. There was a stage when a singular glaz had a suppletive plural oči. In addition, there is a study of colour terms used in Old Russian to describe appearance.