Assessment

Formative Assessment
A peer assessed presentation of an assessment of a palliative or a clinical issue. This should include an account of the event, ethical issues, management and clinical decision making and the appropriateness (or not) of the intervention. The particular needs and the context in which the care took place should be discussed.

Summative Assessment
Using a case study approach, critically discuss a palliative or clinical issue experienced by a patient in the context of palliative care/end-of-life care. Discuss and reflect on the interventions utilised in practice and make recommendations for practice development. Include a critical analysis of the use of palliative interventions and evaluate the outcome of the patient’s care.
