1. Summary

1.1 The Timetabling Team (TT) (based within the Student Services & Administration Directorate) (SSA) is responsible for the production of the teaching and examination timetables. The teaching timetable is produced on a semester-basis. Proprietary software, Facility CMIS, is used to support the centralised scheduling process.

1.2 In producing the teaching timetable, the TT recognises and acts on the requirements of a range of stakeholders including students and academic staff and aims to produce a workable and reasonable timetable which will meet defined constraints such as the availability and number of teaching rooms and facilities.

1.3 The provisions of this timetabling policy will be applied consistently and fairly across the University.

1.4 The principles underpinning the examination timetable were agreed by Senate in February 2011, and included within this policy below.

1.5 This policy sets out the University’s procedures, roles and responsibilities in respect of:

   (i) the preparation and production of the University’s teaching timetable;
   (ii) the provision of facilities to support teaching;
   (iii) the booking of centrally managed teaching rooms for non-teaching events.

1.6 This timetabling policy provides a framework to support all staff with a role in the preparation and production of the teaching timetable.

1.7 The guiding principles underpinning this policy:

   (i) to support the delivery of high quality learning and teaching to students at the University;
   (ii) to ensure that students are taught in the most appropriate teaching accommodation;
   (iii) to ensure that teaching facilities and scheduling meet the needs of teaching staff;
   (iv) to optimise utilisation of the University’s teaching space and resources;
   (v) to provide efficient and effective management of teaching timetabling and room bookings.

2. Policy

2.1 The University operates a 52-week year with teaching normally scheduled in weeks 1 – 11 of two 15-week Semesters for all its programmes. There are two revision weeks (one each semester immediately prior to the examination periods); one reading week (in week 15 of Semester 1) and seven weeks of examinations (two in January and three in May/June and two in late summer each year). Teaching normally commences on the first Monday in October each year.

2.2 The University’s standard teaching week extends from Monday to Friday (except on Wednesdays) with a timetable running from 09.00 – 18.00. On Wednesdays, teaching events for students will normally be scheduled to take place between 09.00 - 12.00. If alternative arrangements or provision can be made appropriate to the teaching event (Recording, e.g. lecture capture) then exceptionally teaching may take place for an additional hour until 13:00. It is not expected that potential use of this hour would curtail an existing teaching event. Any exceptions after 12:00 must be agreed by the Director of Student Services & Administration/Deputy Registrar, following consultation with students.
Additionally, teaching events, by the agreement of the relevant Dean of Faculty, may be scheduled to take place between 18.00 and 21.00 on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays. Teaching events scheduled post 18:00 must be recorded (e.g. lecture capture) and uploaded for students to access.

The Health and Safety issues related to evening teaching will be addressed by the appropriate timetabler.

Teaching at GSA has the option of starting from 08:00 until 22:00 (agreed by Senate in July 2009)

Teaching starts on the hour and ends at 10 minutes before the hour to permit students to move on to their next teaching event and teaching staff to prepare. Teaching events are defined as lectures, seminars, tutorials, laboratory sessions, practical sessions or other structured teaching activity led by academic members of staff and tutors. In addition, students will also be expected to undertake self-directed learning.

Teaching may take place at both Stag Hill and Manor Park sites so long as reasonable travel time is incorporated within the timetable for staff and students, and taking mobility needs into consideration.

Teaching events are normally associated with an approved module contributing to a programme leading to an award of the University. Modules are designed and delivered by departments. All modules should carry a value of 15 credit points, relating to 150 notional learning hours. The normal pattern is for 60 credits’ worth of teaching to be delivered during each semester; exceptions to this will include nursing modules which are taught across the academic year.

In addition, information regarding non-standard units (not modules) will be gathered at the same time and in the same manner as standard module based programmes.

Schools/departments determine the content and format of modules including:

- Number of teaching events per week;
- The format and duration of teaching events;
- The teaching staff who will deliver the event.

Non practical based teaching events of three hours duration can lead to an inefficient use of space and can be a poor experience for students if they are three hour lectures. Three hour teaching events may be appropriate and staff are requested to discuss and agree this format with their Director of Learning and Teaching in advance of submitting such a request. Three hour events will only then normally be scheduled at 0900, 1200 and 1500 to ensure the most effective use of space and to meet a 18:00 finish time.

The University’s Module Catalogue will provide the definitive records of modules that are being delivered during the teaching year. Student Services & Administration staff will input the required information about modules into the catalogue.

The TT will provide the definitive record of the number and format of teaching events associated with a module, the weeks during which teaching events will take place and the names of teaching staff who will deliver events. The TT will then use CMIS to produce the timetable.

Departments should, wherever possible, adopt the practice of holding staff meetings on Wednesday afternoons, recognising that student representation may be required at some School/department meetings.
2.15 Timetabling clashes must be resolved (wherever possible) prior to the final publication of the timetable. Through each iteration of the timetable, the number of students affected by a clash will be identified and a solution sought. However, timetable complexity will mean this cannot always be achieved.

2.16 Changes to the teaching timetable must be kept to a minimum and requested changes or cancellations will be managed in line with the separate cancellation procedure in the appendix.

Teaching SPACE

2.17 The TT maintains an accurate record on CMIS of all space available for teaching. All bookings in teaching space, whether centrally-managed or departmentally-managed, are made via CMIS in order to provide accurate and comprehensive information about space utilisation and to ensure the publication of timetabling information to staff and students.

2.18 Responsibility for rooming all teaching space and laboratory space will pass to the TT (and Conference Office).

2.19 Where previously agreed, laboratory and other specialist space (GSA dance studios, Lakeside etc) will be allocated locally as appropriate. TT will room other teaching events with non-standard programmes or units (CPD; modular MScs) being scheduled after semester-based modules have been timetabled.

2.20 The number of participants in a teaching event must not exceed the size of the room allocated.

Teaching STAFF

2.21 Lecturers and tutors defined as staff holding posts which include teaching responsibilities and may hold full-time, part-time, associate or short-term teaching contracts.

2.22 The Head of School/Department shall determine the allocation of teaching staff to teaching events.

2.23 Constraints on the availability of teaching staff for teaching during the teaching week are handled in accordance with the University’s Flexible Working Policy, and as follows:

(i) staff on teaching-only contracts shall be scheduled to teach at any time during the teaching week;
(ii) staff on teaching and research contracts may be scheduled to teach at anytime during the teaching week;
(iii) part-time, associate, and short-term teaching staff shall be scheduled to teach at times specified by the School/Department, in accordance with their contractual arrangements;
(iv) constraints relating to a Head of School’s/Department/Associate Dean teaching load will be considered by the Faculty Dean.

2.24 Normally, the limits on consecutive teaching hours for teaching staff will be as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Activity</th>
<th>Limit</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Lectures/tutorials</td>
<td>No more than three consecutive hours</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Class/laboratory</td>
<td>No more than four consecutive hours</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Local practice may vary in exceptional circumstances. There will be a one hour lunch break every day for all teaching staff.
2.25 Heads of School/Department – or their named delegate – will be responsible for ensuring that teaching staff are available for teaching in accordance with this Timetabling Policy.

2.26 CMIS will hold the definitive record of teaching staff availability, updated on an annual basis.

2.27 In accordance with the University’s policy on equality and diversity, the University will make every effort to accommodate staff with individual requirements relating to disabilities. Specific requirements must be reported to the Head of School/Department through the annual Teaching Constraints process (to ensure they can be taken into account when scheduling teaching events).

STUDENTS

2.28 Students studying on a full-time basis are expected to be available at any time during the teaching week as defined in 2.1-2.4. Students studying on a standard programme on a part-time basis (e.g. a Master’s programme taken over more than one year) are normally expected to select modules in accordance with their availability for full-time students.

2.29 In preparing the timetable, the TT aims to ensure that normally students are taught for no more than 3 consecutive hours, but this may extend to 4 hours in some cases.

2.30 Students select optional modules by means of a process of module registration. The timetabling of optional modules is informed by the selections students have made via the module registration process. Where module choices are not received in time to inform the production of the timetable (e.g. for first year students and taught postgraduate students), the TT undertakes to minimise the clashing of optional combinations of modules wherever possible.

2.31 In accordance with the University’s policy on equality and diversity, the University will make every effort to accommodate students with individual requirements relating to disabilities. Students requiring such individual arrangements must contact the Additional Learning Support Office upon initial registration, or subsequently for examinations in line with dates in their Programme Handbook, so that the requirements can be taken into consideration. Where reasonable adjustments cannot be made, students will be advised by the TT.

NON-TEACHING EVENTS

2.32 With the exception of bookings for centrally-managed examinations and graduation ceremonies (where appropriate), bookings for teaching events including those running across semesters will take precedence over bookings for non-teaching events.

2.33 Normally non-teaching events out of semester time, those timetabled after 18:00 in the evening and all events during vacation time will be dealt with by the Conference Office. The number of participants in any non-teaching event should not exceed the size of the room allocated.

2.34 All non-teaching events must adhere to the University’s Code of Practice on Freedom of Speech and must comply with the University’s room booking policy.

2.35 Conflicts of interest which may arise when centrally-managed rooms are required simultaneously for teaching bookings and commercial bookings will be referred to the Director of Student Services & Administration whose decision will be final.

EXAMINATIONS
In January 2011, the University created a set of four primary principles which the Assessment and Awards Team would adhere to when creating the 3 Examinations Timetables (Semester 1, 2 and Late Summer Assessments). These principles are as follows:

(a) Scheduling will be between 09.00 and 21.00 each day, including Saturdays.
(b) Students may have two examinations in one day. Where students have more than one examination in a day, the total number of hours of examinations in any one day will not normally be more than four (i.e. students may have a 3 hour examination and a 1 hour examination or two 2-hour examinations but not 2 x 3 hour examinations).
(c) Students will not normally have more than 2 examinations in a 48 hour period. Where a student may have an examination in the evening one day (i.e. finishing after 6.30pm), then the student will not have an examination before 10.30am the following morning.
(d) If a student has two examinations on one day, the minimum period of time between examinations will be 90 minutes.

Agreed, Senate, May 2016
Appendix – Cancellation Procedure for Teaching Events

Summary:

This appendix briefly outlines the procedure taken on cancellations, delayed starts and monitoring associated with this.

In line with the University Timetabling Policy (2.6), teaching events are defined as lectures, seminars, tutorials, laboratory sessions, practical sessions or other structured teaching activity led by academic members of staff and tutors.

It is recognised that students have a reasonable right to expect their teaching to be delivered at the times indicated on their timetables and that we should not unnecessarily deviate from these times.

The general goal is never to cancel sessions outright but, where possible, to find cover or to reschedule and give students ample advance warning that this will happen.

Procedure:

- Except in cases of force majeure, events will not be cancelled outright. Where possible, events that cannot occur at the advertised time will be re-scheduled to occur within the normal semester teaching period. Academic staff are expected to deliver their scheduled teaching at the times advertised to students on their timetables and should therefore plan accordingly.

- Where academic staff find that after the publication of timetables they are required to be elsewhere at a time when they are teaching, they must make a request to be absent to their Head of School/Department.

- Any changes or cancellations must be facilitated through the Faculty Student Services Manager in the first instance: the affected module, a clear rationale and the proposed resolution should be provided via email. The Faculty Student Services Manager will liaise with the Head of School/Department as necessary and a decision taken.

- A record will be kept by the central timetabling team of all such occurrences.

- The Faculty Student Services Team will contact students to inform them of any cancellation, delays in starting lectures and any details of re-scheduled lectures.

- Where an academic calls in ill to inform HR or their Line manager of their absence, this should be passed on to the appropriate Head of School/Department, who will take action either to find a replacement lecturer or to reschedule classes and inform students through the Faculty Student Services office accordingly. It would normally be expected that the lecture will be re-scheduled if arranging teaching cover is not possible.

- Where an academic calls to say they intend to deliver their particular session, but will be late for the start, the Faculty Student Services Office should be notified as soon as possible and the Office will inform the students by making an announcement at the normal start time. It is expected that the lecturer will ensure the material that was to be covered is covered either within the remainder of the session or by scheduling an additional session as necessary.

- Monitoring information will be provided to Faculty Student Services Managers to raise at Boards of Studies and Joint Staff Student Liaison Committee (JJSCLC) meetings as necessary.
