

Theoretical benefits	Registered Reports	Preregistration	Standard article
For the research community:
- Reduces researcher bias: p-hacking & HARKing	✓	✓	✗
- Eliminates reporting bias: publication bias & outcome bias	✓	✗	✗
- Incentivises novel, resource-intensive projects (where publication would normally be contingent on results)	✓	✗	✗
- Encourages formulation of precise research question and plans a priori	✓	✓	✗
For researchers:
- Peer review when it's most helpful	✓	✗	✗
- Guaranteed publication	✓	✗	✗
- IPA on your CV	✓	✗	✗
- Reduces stress (publication is not contingent on novel results, significant results, or supported hypotheses)	✓	✗	✗