

TASKS FOR DOCTORAL EDUCATION

Dr Gill Adams,
Dr Helen Donaghue,
Dr Marion Heron &
Dr Lisa McGrath

Queen Margaret University
EDINBURGH

Economic and Social Research Council

A must-have toolkit for doctoral students!

Tasks for Doctoral Education provides a toolkit for doctoral students and supervisors to support discussion on key aspects of doctoral education. The toolkit is designed to be used independently, with a supervisor, or in a research group. The toolkit is organised around three key themes to enable users to dip in and focus on a particular area of interest.

“It’s great that the tasks have been set up to facilitate conversations on either a one to one basis or on a group basis.” – Supervisor

“I think it would be really beneficial to see this become something that’s maybe more standard across the UK” – Doctoral Student

“It’s exceptionally well structured.” – Doctoral Student

“Really organised and it’s easy to follow.” – Doctoral Student

The aims of this toolkit are to guide doctoral students through key activities as part of the doctoral journey and to support supervisors in developing their doctoral students’ literacy practices.