

2026 Criteria: Widening participation scholarships for UK students

The University of Surrey School of Medicine is committed to supporting widening participation opportunities in graduate entry medicine.

For 2026, there are two types of scholarships offered by the School of Medicine that are available for home students:

- The Sam and John Dawson Medical Scholarship
This scholarship consists of a full fee waiver and a £10,000 per annum living costs grant (non-repayable) for all four years of the BMBS programme.
- The Sidney Perry Foundation Scholarship
This scholarship consists of a £3,000 living costs grant (non-repayable) for the first year of the BMBS programme.

To be eligible for consideration for these awards, applicants MUST:

- Be eligible for home fees status.
- Have attended a non-selective state school (defined as completing A-levels, or equivalent).

In addition, applicants must normally demonstrate that they meet at least two of the following widening participation criteria.
