

STUDY DAY ON TEACHING AND CREATIVITY IN POPULAR MUSIC

Saturday 10 June 2017

Performing Arts and Technology Studio, University of Surrey

9:30 Arrival (PATS Lower Foyer)

10am Welcome (PATS Studio One)

- Christopher Wiley (University of Surrey)

10:10am Paper session (PATS Studio One)

- 'Learning to Learn: An ecological approach to teaching'
Liz Pipe and Simon Zagorski-Thomas (London College of Music, University of West London)
- 'Blank Canvas: (CH)Art Schools – From Itten to Eno or Dada to DA DA DA'
Simon Strange (Bath Spa University)

11:10am Break (PATS Upper Foyer)

11:30am Roundtable discussion (PATS Studio One)

- 'Pedagogical Practice in Popular Music Teaching in Higher Education: Creative approaches and continuing challenges'
Christian Kennett (University of Westminster), Monica Esslin-Peard (University of Liverpool), Remy Martin (Leeds College of Music/University of Surrey), Christopher Wiley (convener, University of Surrey)

12:30pm Lunch (PATS Upper Foyer)

1:30pm Teach-in Workshops I (PATS Studio One)

- New Musical Theatre Writing in an Educational Context
Alex Loveless (London College of Music, University of West London)
- Do it Wrong: Repurposing Technology to Inspire Learning
Bill Thompson (University of Surrey)

2:40pm Break (PATS Upper Foyer)

3pm Teach-in Workshops II (PATS Studio One)

- Universal Truths: Archetypes in Contemporary Songwriting
Angela Blacklaw (The Institute of Contemporary Music Performance)
- Hybrid Hip-Hop Production as Pedagogical Paradigm
Mike Exarchos (University of Westminster)

4:10pm Close (PATS Studio One)

- Simon Zagorski-Thomas (London College of Music, University of West London)

4:15pm Drinks (Oak House)