GSA at the University of Surrey is delighted to announce the launch event of the Labanarium, hosted by the Institute of Performance at the University of Surrey. The Labanarium is a new online Resource and Network Centre for the Movement Community due to launch January 2017.

Membership of the Labanarium is free and anyone can join – the only requirement for joining is an interest in human movement and an openness to the breadth and diversity of approaches which explore it.

This one-day symposium event will focus on researching and teaching movement and dance in Higher Education.

Keynote speakers Dr Royona Mitra (Brunel University) and Vanessa Ewan (Royal Central School of Speech and Drama) lead a rich programme of presentations by international experts in movement and dance.
Programme
The programme features leading practitioners from the international movement community from various institutions including:

Trinity Laban, Coventry University, University of Kent, University of Roehampton, Royal Holloway University of London, Curtin University Australia, Rose Bruford College, De Paul University Chicago, Reckless Theatre Ensemble Chicago, University of Hull, University of Huddersfield, Royal Central School of Speech and Drama, St Mary’s University, Brunel University London, E15 Acting School.

Programme includes a performance of Campfire by Yaron Shyldkrot and presentations from:

- Professor Mark Evans
- Professor Paul Allain & Stacie Lee Bennett
- Rebecca Webber & Dr Sarah Reed
